Science started out with physical science where you learned the basics of science that included constants speed in an object and friction in a movement of an object. Then your next year began with biology where you learned about chromosomes and genetics from your parents. As you went on, you then had to start choosing a upper level science like: chemistry, earth science, or anatomy. In chemistry, students learned about compounds and chemical equations to make a formula complete. Earth science you learned about volcanoes, rocks, and plate formations on the earth. Students learned about different types of rocks by going on a caving trip and doing a notebook on rocks they discovered on rock ledges. Anatomy students learned about the body and did lots of hands on activities. The best part about anatomy was dissecting the cat and learning about the muscles in the cat.

During the 2013-2014 academic year, the social studies classes had a blast studying their past. Ms. Hrabina taught geography class and those students had the chance to participate in the geography bowl. Ms. Hrabina taught her classes about volcanoes and gave the students a chance to see how a volcano erupted. In Mr. Anderson's class, you got the chance to learn about history around the world. They also got into a little more detail about the history behind the America getting its start. After taking civics with Mr. Taylor, we learned how the stock markets worked and how the economy can affect the stocks. We learned about the constitution and what was the most important about the representatives. Towards the end of the semester, we learned how to manage our financial aid and how we can manage our money throughout our life. The social studies classes helped us learn about our past, embrace the present and anticipate the future.

Senora Groseclose made Spanish fun for everyone!

It was another successful year for the Foreign Language department! PCHS welcomed Senora Groseclose as an additional Spanish teacher, assisting with teaching the lower level Spanish classes as well as virtual classes to seventh and eighth grade students at both middle schools. Senora Minter continued teaching upper level Spanish students and was fortunate enough to take nine students on a week-long educational trip to Spain. While on their trip they were able to visit significant landmarks ranging from the city of Barcelona to the countryside of Madrid. It was yet another memorable trip, allowing her to return with unique, Hispanic gifts for the Foreign Language Festival winners! The spring Foreign Language Festival was filled with many delicious foods, beautiful posters, and hilarious class skits! The Foreign Language department was overjoyed to welcome new members into the Spanish Honor Society, and are looking forward to the upcoming members next fall!

Stephen Mick enjoys playing cornhole.

For the 2013/2014 school year, Mr. Pyles took on the role as the Physical Education and Health Teacher. P.E. class was filled with a lot of activity and great exercise. They started out with cardio, running and walking. They continued with basic stretches and jumping jacks, as well as sit ups and push ups. All of these were not only beneficial for your body to build up your strength and endurance but also helped you prepare better for the other activities that physical education class did during the school year. Activities included basketball, football, volleyball, kickball and playing ping pong and cornhole. Mr. Pyles' health class did unit work throughout the school year. He and Ms. Hrabina taught the students about healthy eating and nutrition. They also learned about diseases and the dangers, risks and effects of alcohol and tobacco use.

The Class of 2014 were eager to complete their final year in high school; however, the demanding prerequisites included in senior year were demanding. Mentorships had to be finalized and mandatory classes must be passed in order to graduate. Fall was a busy, yet prosperous time for the seniors. The senior class won the coveted spirit stick award and dominated spirit week. Seniors began to visit colleges and the application process for universities and scholarships started. The excitement of receiving acceptance letters made the senior class that much more anxious to start on their future endeavors. Senior athletes played their final games representing PCHS and enjoyed their celebratory senior nights recognizing their hard work. Despite the various snow days PCHS encountered, it was finally time for prom. The fairytale theme was a good indication of the magical night had by all that attended. By spring, athletes had signed their letters of intent and the final paperwork needed to activate their next journey was finally completed. Awards night was a success, recognizing the accomplishments and activities of each individual in the senior class. Finally, the anticipated day had arrived. On May 31st the Class of 2014 graduated approximately 80 students!

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The class of 2016 welcomed the 2013-2014 school year with confidence knowing where their classes were and knowing their teachers. They were looking forward to designing and ordering their class-rings. Sophomore got to take the ACT Plan test so they could see what they might get on the actual ACT test and what they might be good at for a future career. The sophomore class hosted the school talent show to show what kind of talent the student body had.

Sophomores were winding up on fundraising to get ready for homecoming and prom. They won the powder-puff game in their neon green shirts against the freshman, junior and senior classes.

Sophomore year turned out to be a success!!

Freshmen Class

The class of 2017 walked through the doors of Pocahontas County High School with their heads held high and eager to start the next four years as a Warrior. First they started off the year by roaming the halls and figuring out where all the classes were located. Shortly after, they started joining clubs, sports, and the organizations the school had to offer. The freshmen, in the largest class in the school, came together and participated in Homecoming week activities. They decorated doors and swapped genders. They played their first game of powder-puff in volleyball. Although they lost both games they still had good spirit and enjoyed their first Homecoming week. Half way through the year, the freshman experienced their first set of finals. After their finals, the freshmen were ready to start their next semester of classes. As the end of the year approached the freshmen were all more than ready to start the next year as sophomores.

Science started out with physical science where you learned the basics of science that included constants speed in an object and friction in a movement of an object. Then your next year began with biology where you learned about chromosomes and genetics from your parents. As you went on, you then had to start choosing a upper level science like: chemistry, earth science, or anatomy. In chemistry, students learned about compounds and chemical equations to make a formula complete. Earth science you learned about volcanoes, rocks, and plate formations on the earth. Students learned about different types of rocks by going on a caving trip and doing a notebook on rocks they discovered on rock ledges. Anatomy students learned about the body and did lots of hands on activities. The best part about anatomy was dissecting the cat and learning about the muscles in the cat.

During the 2013-2014 academic year, the social studies classes had a blast studying their past. Ms. Hrabina taught geography class and those students had the chance to participate in the geography bowl. Ms. Hrabina taught her classes about volcanoes and gave the students a chance to see how a volcano erupted. In Mr. Anderson's class, you got the chance to learn about history around the world. They also got into a little more detail about the history behind the America getting its start. After taking civics with Mr. Taylor, we learned how the stock markets worked and how the economy can affect the stocks. We learned about the constitution and what was the most important about the representatives. Towards the end of the semester, we learned how to manage our financial aid and how we can manage our money throughout our life. The social studies classes helped us learn about our past, embrace the present and anticipate the future.

Language

Senora Groseclose made Spanish fun for everyone!

It was another successful year for the Foreign Language department! PCHS welcomed Senora Groseclose as an additional Spanish teacher, assisting with teaching the lower level Spanish classes as well as virtual classes to seventh and eighth grade students at both middle schools. Senora Minter continued teaching upper level Spanish students and was fortunate enough to take nine students on a week-long educational trip to Spain. While on their trip they were able to visit significant landmarks ranging from the city of Barcelona to the countryside of Madrid. It was yet another memorable trip, allowing her to return with unique, Hispanic gifts for the Foreign Language Festival winners! The spring Foreign Language Festival was filled with many delicious foods, beautiful posters, and hilarious class skits! The Foreign Language department was overjoyed to welcome new members into the Spanish Honor Society, and are looking forward to the upcoming members next fall!

For the 2013/2014 school year, Mr. Pyles took on the role as the Physical Education and Health Teacher. P.E. class was filled with a lot of activity and great exercise. They started out with cardio, running and walking. They continued with basic stretches and jumping jacks, as well as sit ups and push ups. All of these were not only beneficial for your body to build up your strength and endurance but also helped you prepare better for the other activities that physical education class did during the school year. Activities included basketball, football, volleyball, kickball and playing ping pong and cornhole. Mr. Pyles' health class did unit work throughout the school year. He and Ms. Hrabina taught the students about healthy eating and nutrition. They also learned about diseases and the dangers, risks and effects of alcohol and tobacco use.

COLOR GUARD

The PCHS music department was a large part of the school system this year. During the home football games they would perform a half time show, which this year's theme was "The Beatles". The band was very successful this year. They participated in band camp, the Hurricane Whirlwind of Bands competition, Elkins Forest Festival, Greenbrier East Classic and competed in the State Tournament of Bands. They even attended band ratings in which they got a 3. Students were also able to have fun in some of the many classes Mr. Mann was able to teach. It took the band no time at all to warm up to him as the new band director. The transition of becoming a teacher here for Mr. Mann was not that difficult at all since he is a Pocahontas County High School alumni. From singing your heart out in choir, learning beats in music appreciation, developing rhythm in jazz band, picking strings in guitar, all the way to marching to the beat in marching band, the wide range of classes allowed the students of PCHS to broaden their horizons in the musical world.

Culinary

Culinary was all about learning the basics of cooking. As culinary class grew more popular, the students of PCHS always took advantage of them. Not only did the students who took the class enjoy cooking, but they also learned the best way to prepare a dish. Students who took culinary learned everything from food prep to competing in competitions. They put together a walk through Halloween haunted house, colored eggs for Easter, went to Skills USA Competition, Roadkill Cookoff, participated in the HEAT Competition, and helped cook for the FFA Banquet. It is a highly recommended class that you will use the rest of your life. Students who took the class said it was one of their favorites classes they have taken in high school.

Culinary

At PCHS, the welding program had a whole new appeal that gave the students a chance to see if they could master hard labor. Throughout the year, they started out learning fundamentals of welding which teaches you all about the safety in and around the shop and equipment, how to begin to weld, set up a torch and so on. Throughout the various classes you could take in welding, you would learn how to weld: vertical, horizontal, over head, and of course flat. Many struggled to learn the fine techniques of putting down a nice bead, but the majority of the students made it on to the next level. Some of the advanced students got to move on from plate to pipe. At the end of 2014 school year, a few competed in Skills USA for welding a sculpture, "Spike" the dragon. The welding sculpture came home first place with the championship that was built in our very own welding shop by some very dedicated students. Mr. Lambert had his first state student win and was headed to nationals in June.

During forestry, students had the opportunity to walk in the woods and learn about trees and how to identify them. Mr. Garber taught the students how to identify trees by the bark and their leaves. Students also spent some time in the classroom learning about the woods from our workbooks and by playing vocal games. Mr. Garber taught students how to protect themselves from a forest fire; and what type of tools you use to cut down trees. The forestry class also learned how to use a compass and to pace off steps away from the tree to see how many logs are in a tree. We also made Biltmore sticks to measure the trees when we were far enough away from them. In wildlife management, students learned how to make habitats such as rabbit and bird houses. The students also learned about the edible plants and non-edible plants. The class went to the stream and looked for aquatic life. They found water pennies, leeches, and crawdads.

The carpentry class started out their year by learning the fundamentals of Building Construction. The students were eager to get into the shop for hands on learning activities. The first big project that they completed was a garage built for Jim Garber. Carpentry III and IV went off campus to his home and worked on the garage; this took most of the first semester. Throughout the year, the carpentry class completed numerous projects such as book shelves for the welding room, a small building and their own take home projects such as picture frames. As the year continued, multiple members of the carpentry class participated and placed while competing at Skills USA representing PCHS in Charleston, West Virginia. Building Construction gave you the skills to not only further your education, but also to start into the work force after receiving your certification and graduating from high school.

Every year at PCHS the end comes with much success and goals met. Every day meals were prepared and cooked for the students and staff all thanks to our hard working cooks. Students were taught and prepared for the future oncoming challenges through their classes. Students always were helped and never left a class without being taught something new. Teachers and staff always lended a hand of help if you needed it, no matter how hard the question or job was. Students got extra help if they wanted or needed it. At lunch, teachers and students sat together to chat about events going on in their lives. PCHS is a place where we all are like a big family because no matter how your day is going, you have teachers or students at your school to make sure your day gets better. PCHS MEN'S SOCCER

New head coach Cully McCurdy took over the reins of the PCHS Men's Soccer team. From the first day of the season the team practiced hard and played harder under the hot August sun. The Warriors started the season strong as they won and tied their first four games. Only losing three games during the regular season the warriors were on a warpath eyeing the sectional finals. Defeating their opponent 3-1, the men captured the second straight sectional championship. The team advanced to the regional championship on Halloween. The twenty-one members of the team came up a little short, but still had a historic season. The men captured thirteen wins, one tie and only suffered four losses the entire season. Since only four seniors graduated, the future of PCHS Men's Soccer looks bright for years to come.

Volleyball

Varsity Volleyball players stand in honor of the National Anthem.

Emily Fuller takes her turn on serving the ball.

Volleyball Season started off with a new coach this year, Drema Sharp. It was a challenge for everyone to get adjusted to the new coach and players, but it wasn't long until they were like a family. Coach Sharp brought determination and enthusiasm to the team. She began every practice with warm up laps and cardio drills, then moved on to two sets of 17's and drills to work on ball control. Last of all at practice was scrimmaging, varsity against the junior varsity. She worked hard with older members of the team to teach the new comers everything they needed to know about volleyball like bump, set, spike and many other techniques. It was a process for the new girls to learn everything in such a short time but they pulled it off. The ladies came together as a team and played their hearts out. Though it wasn't much of a winning season, the Lady Warriors made many great memories that will last a life time.

Lady Warrior Soccer

"Somewhere behind the athlete you've become and the hours of practice and the coaches who have pushed you is a little girl who fell in love with the game and never looked back...play for her."

-Mia Hamm

The summer workouts were over and it was finally time for the Lady Warriors to take the field again! Once the hot August practices began, the Lady Warriors had one goal...to win. The team started the season being ranked 8th in the state for A-AA, leaving them with a huge image to uphold. The Lady Warriors welcomed David Jones as Head Coach for the 2013 season and were prepared to work hard. Despite having one of the youngest line ups in the state, it did not hinder them at all. The Lady Warriors had an overall winning season and landed themselves a spot in the Sectional Championship game. Even though a State Championship title was not brought home, it was a season for the books. Unfortunately, the Lady Warriors lost four impact seniors, which will result in a huge gap for underclassmen to step up and fill next fall. PCHS looks forward to the growing program and what the Lady Warriors will conquer in the upcoming season.

"My favorite memory was winning sectionals against Midland Trail! It was the best game we played all year!"

Rachel McComb

"I couldn't have asked for a better team to spend my senior season with. My favorite memory from this season was all the conversations between the players and coaches."

Brittany McMillion

"This year the team did a lot of things to bond and become stronger, both mentally and physically. It was a proud season to be a Lady Warrior!"

Sidney Rose

"My favorite memory from this season was winning sectionals! I advise all upcoming freshman to never give up, and I look forward to making it to

Golf

"Golf is a game in which you yell 'fore', shoot six, and write down five."

The golf team had a blast, the past 2013 Golf season. For some golf members this 2013 season was their first year, but for others it was just another year added. The team had a blast trying their best to win all the competitions. Some were nervous when they took their first shot at the ball. Some duffed the ball right away on their first shot, but kept a positive attitude clear through the season. Most of the members say that they had a blast playing golf with the rest of the team. The golf team went to regionals and the Potomac Valley Conference Tournament and placed first both times. They also went to states, some say that they struggled, but they cannot replace the experience they had. Most of the team said that they cannot wait to go back to states next year. The majority of the team say that they cannot wait until next season.

"Don't get mad, and keep your eye on the ball."

-Brady Potvin

"Looking forward to go back to states next season."

At the beginning of the season the cheerleaders started their practice in the late summer. The gym was hot and there wasn't any air condition. They still practiced and ended out with what they thought was intense work outs. Even though the football boys didn't have a strong season, the cheer warriors were still there with smiles on their faces, cheering them on. On senior night it was tough for the girls to face that it was their last home game together. With tears of joy and sadness they went on the next event. PVC's arrived and they were all nervous. Even though they dropped their stunt performance they still were happy about their routine. Next was competition day and they were all so excited to perform. Even though they placed fifth, they still walked with smiles on their faces. They all ended the basketball and football cheer season with memories that will be cherished forever.

Overall this season, I had fun and many great learning experiences. I also look forward to having another great year next year.

It has been great but also rough at times. It's something I won't ever forget.

-Stephen Mick

This has been a good year, although we are inexperienced we are a good ball team. I have had a lot of good times this year and I can't wait for next year.

As we reflected on the 2013-2014 basketball season, it was a success. Tim McClung came back as the head coach once again and Frosty McNabb as the assistant coach. The warriors were still a young team but they strived for their best. There was no senior leadership so the juniors had to step up. Many of the boys this season were young and had to learn new things and push themselves the hardest to make the varsity team. Late night practices had began again. Many seventeen's were ran just to stay in shape throughout the season. Just as last year, the warriors had ended their season falling short at sectionals. It was another great year of learning and pushing themselves to become better. The warriors were looking forward to the upcoming season and will continue to work hard by going to summer camps and working on their game on their own in hopes to travel to the state championship next year.

The Pocahontas County Warrior baseball team saw many new faces for the 2014 season. Eight freshmen joined the baseball team and had to learn the rules and tricks behind being a successful baseball player. The team faced many challenges and worked hard over the long season. They cooperated well and worked together as a team. They gave it their all and always strived for the win. Even though the team didn't reach their expectations for the season, they had fun playing the sport that they loved and walked away knowing that they worked hard. Wesley Felton, Andrew Morrison, Brandon Hamons, and Judd Walther were the four seniors that left the baseball team, leaving the team in the hands of the underclassman. The seniors believed that there is a lot of potential in the younger players and that they will be impossible to beat in upcoming seasons. In the future, the team hopes to have a nice clean home field to play on and a more successful season.

Brandal Carr

"I didn't really get to play a lot but when I got to play I had a lot of fun joining in and playing ball."

Logan Davis

"My favorite memory from this season was starting the first game of the season. My advice to new players is to be ready for anything."

Tommy Greulich

"The best teams get along and there's always room for improvement."

Brandon Hamons

"It's been fun. We were very young, but there's a lot of potential in those younger guys. If they stay with it they will be hard to beat in the next couple of years."

Girls Basketball

We're back!! That was the theme the Lady Warriors team proudly boasted on their state tournament tee shirts. It was a new year, new players, and a new assistant coach, Phillip Anderson. The season started out with intense conditioning, practicing fundamentals, and working hard together to form one team. As the season continued, the Lady Warriors started to rack up the wins, and eventually dominated the court and made it to the State Tournament in Charleston. The Lady Warriors then walked into the Charleston Civic Center with their heads held high, ready to defeat the Lady Mountain Lions from Tucker County. Although the Lady Warriors showed their dedication on the court and their love for the sport they fell short of a win and lost in the first round of states. The girls were challenged during the season and had some tough losses, but they stuck together as a team and made it through the 2013-2014 season.

Business

The 2013-2014 school year proved to be challenging for Mrs. Kesterson and her students. She taught Office Management, Accounting, Business and Marketing Essentials and Computer Applications. Business was more than a class, but a life skill. Calculating numbers and learning to manage the newest technology of today proved to be a crucial skill in today's innovating world. These students worked towards their business majors a little easier with Mrs. Kesterson watching over them.

In her last term as the head of Yearbook, "Mrs. K" loaded up with fourteen seniors on staff. With three returning editors and an enthusiastic group, they proved that no task was too large. Staff member knew how to have fun and work like crazy when it was time to finish a layout during crunch time in May. Staff members learned how to write copies, capture the moment and sell business ads. The yearbook staff broke a record selling more than $10,000.00 in ads in two months. The skills learned in yearbook will be very helpful in college and the work force. The school year would never be captured on camera and viewed by the public eye if it weren't for the work of the yearbook staff and the wonderful guidance of Mrs. Kesterson.

Option Pathway students and the new teacher, Mrs. Nicole Taylor, experienced major changes this year including a different classroom and the switch from the GED to TASC. TASC is the Test Assessing Secondary Completion. Option Pathway students took TASC Prep. classes throughout the year in addition to a vocational pathway they choose to complete.

Ms. Nelson had an eventful year full of art and creativity. She taught art I, art II, art III, and art IV, along with beginning and advanced ceramics and studio art. She even managed to teach 2-3 different art classes in just one block. All of the art classes made students of all personalities and interests come together to create unique drawings, paintings, sculptures, and magnificent masterpieces. Ms. Nelson provided an environment where students could laugh and have fun, yet they learned about all aspects of art at the same time. She was excited to see all the diverse pieces of artwork that students brought to the table. She believed that everyone had the potential to create something great, even though sometimes they didn't always work to their full potential. Everyone had their own unique style of art, just like everyone has different handwriting. Everyone interpreted art in a completely different way, which made all art classes, big and small, that much more interesting.

The language art classes had a variety to offer students from college, ap to level appropriate. In the Language department you had three teachers to choose from: Ms. Boothe, Ms. Poppe, and Mrs. VanReenan. During your freshman and sophomore year you learned about the World Literature. During your junior year it was American Literature that you learned. During your senior year British Literature was the name of the game. In your AP classes you learned the same things just more advance with projects and outside readings. During your senior year you had to choose between, language arts 12 or college english or AP. Through-out life you will always remember the awesome stories you read and the cool characters you became through your readings.

The year began with a new principal: Francis LaBounty. He was the fourth Principal in Pocahontas County High School's history. Mr. Francis LaBounty discovered our small school through a friend who thought he would be a great fit for the school because of the success he had with two years in Mt. Storm. He has acquired two Master's degrees; his first through Marshall University and second through Jones International University. Mr. LaBounty had five years of administrative experience which made him highly qualified for the position of principal. Mr. LaBounty is a happily married father of two sons and came to PCHS with experiences from Alaska. He loved the great outdoor experience and time with his family. Some of his interests are weight lifting and watching sports. His favorite hockey team is the New York Rangers and baseball the Boston Red Sox. Mr. LaBounty's goal was to continue to improve upon the academic environment and educational experience for all students.

Faculty Superlatives

The 2013-2014 school year proved to be different. Instead of the spotlight being placed on the students the limelight glistened on the teachers too. The first ever teacher superlative page made the edition of the 2014 yearbook which allowed teacher's characteristics to be recognized. Students placed teachers under ten different categories: ranging from hardest A to most likely to spend a weekend at school. After the votes were placed and the ballots were counted, the winners were promised a photo in the yearbook. When teacher Sammantha Bartley was asked how she felt about the teacher superlative page in the yearbook, her response was "I think it's a good idea and a positive aspect for the teachers. I could definitely see teacher superlatives in the yearbooks for years to come." With the popularity and positive feedback of the teacher superlatives, the layout looks to have many bright years to come.

10 Year Predictions

- Adam Beverage - In ten years, I know I'll be doing the things this place said I wouldn't.
- Alex Halterman - In ten years, I plan to be finished with officer and flight school and serving as a pilot in the U.S. Army.
- Alex Kennison - In ten years, I will be graduated from College and pursue a career in sports communications. Then I'll move to South Carolina and hopefully have a family.
- Alex Sisler - I'll be working and having my own house.
- Allie Erlewine - Back at home, concluding my days of adventure; cutting hair and taking in the mountain breeze; making a house a home, more than likely stepping over Legos and Tonka trucks.
- Allison Jonese - I hope to be somewhere sunny and sandy, doing something I'm passionate about. The future is unpredictable, so I'll go where the wind takes me and make the best of this crazy, beautiful life.
- Amanda Gibson - In ten years, I see myself dreaming of my first Pulitzer Prize while kayaking around the lakes of Maine.
- Anson Hatfield - In ten years, I will be working for the forest service, or working on the road.
- Ashley Kennison - In ten years, I will be working in a restaurant somewhere warm.
- Austin Friel - I see myself working with a fire department out west.
- Brady Potvin - I see myself owning my own Art Store.
- Brandon Hamons - In ten years, I will be welding somewhere.
- Brittany Pritt - I live one day at a time. I don't know where I see myself tomorrow much less ten years from now.
- Brooke Irvine - In ten years, I don't know where I'll be, I hope to have some type of college degree, owning my own house out of West Virginia and enjoying my life!
- Caleb Arbogast - I see myself pursuing my career as a West Virginia State Trooper.
- Chyanna Hall - In ten years, I see myself having a stable nursing job, settled down & with one kid.
- Cody Himelrick - I see myself working in heavy equipment.
- Danielle Stuart - In ten years, I will be a surgical PA with a great life, married to the love of my life and living somewhere it never snows.
- Dayla Lambert - Ten years from now, I'll hopefully be graduated from college, working as a dental hygienist, and married to my best friend. Most importantly, I'll be happy!
- Devin Rose - A paid officer in the fire service and a paramedic, married with one kid.
- Dustin Dilley - I'll be sitting on a beach on some Tropical Island.
- Dylan Weatherholt - In 10 years, I see myself living on my granddads farm, under the hood of a jacked up Chevrolet truck.
- Emily Hefner - I see myself as a teacher in 10 years. If not, I will probably be a set designer.
- Fredricah Gardner - When 2024 rolls around, I see myself helping others either by teaching team or designing practical products. I hope to be traveling to other countries to do this.
- Haley Nelson - I see myself being a Registered Nurse working in a hospital with a house in the suburbs and someone to share my happiness with.
- Hannah Nelson - Life is full of surprises. Hopefully I'll be a Forensic Scientist though, with an amazing home, great neighborhood, and someone to share everything with.
- Ida Moyers - I see myself married and have a job with my own car.
- James Riley - In the next ten years, I will either be working in an Agricultural based job or I will be the owner of my own small business probably in the field of Agriculture as well.
- Jennifer Fertig - In ten years, I see myself being a personal trainer, hopefully owning and running my own gym, helping others to set and reach their goals.
- Jessayln Hamilton - I see myself teaching or in the forestry field with a wonderful husband and maybe a few kids.
- Joey Friel - Directing in Hollywood with stars, and putting out the next blockbuster.
- Josh Clark - In ten years, I will be a 3 time lottery winner, driving a brand new diesel, and hunting any animal that walks the earth.
- Josie Biller - I hope to be settled down with a job as a physical therapy assistant.
- Kara Lane - In ten years, I'll be out of college pursuing my career. I will be living in the country, spending weekends cruising the back roads, jamming out to Luke Bryan and Brantley Gilbert.
- Karey Barb - In ten years, I see myself with a good job in nursing and have a wonderful family.
- Kati Friel - In ten years, I see myself pursuing my dream as a private investigator, living in a huge town in Tennessee, in a huge, cozy, warm house with my wonderful husband.
- Kendra Hubbert - In ten years, I see myself happy and successful.
- Kody Burns - In ten years, I'll be a manager at Dollar General.
- Lilly Tracy - In ten years I will be out of college with a steady job in elementary education and an apartment with my family.
- Lorena Rose - I will be living here, running the farm, working a good job, have my PhD, married, and working on the next great American novel.
- Lyndsee Gay - In ten years, I see myself with a college degree, and a good job. Hopefully, I'll be married and settling down here in Pocahontas County.
- Makeia Jonese - The course of life is unpredictable. However, in ten years I can see myself settled into my career, married and beginning a family while enjoying this journey called life.
- Marka Kane - In ten years, I see myself being a registered nurse and starting a family.
- Molly Plaughter - In ten years, I see myself living in Mt. Storm, and starting a family with my wonderful boyfriend, Aaron Miltstead.
- Nicole Bennett - I will have received a degree as an RN and working and be married with one child.
- Priscilla Grimes - I see myself with many certifications in welding and living my life, settled down with a nice house and a good paying job.
- Rachel McComb - In ten years, I see myself graduated from college, working in a job that I love.
- Rebekah Anderson - I see myself as an Oscar-Winning actor and married to a British man (preferably Tom Hiddleston).
- Renae Jordan - In ten years, I'll be living in Colorado with a good paying job.
- Richard Smith - In ten years, I see myself having a good job, and starting a family.
- Sarah Worth - Traveling, dreaming and loving life to the fullest.
- Shannen McClure - In ten years, I will hopefully be out there in some random country discovering the ruins of Atlantis.
- Shelby Starks - I see myself out of college starting a family. Having a good job.
- Thorne Willoughby - Finished with college, haveing a good paying job, and settled down.
- Tiffany Rogers - Successful graduate; surrounded by friends & successful at living the life I live.
- Wesley Felton - I see myself out of Pocahontas County giving weather forecasts and telling kids when they'll have snow days.

COLOR GUARD

The PCHS music department was a large part of the school system this year. During the home football games they would perform a half time show, which this year's theme was "The Beatles". The band was very successful this year. They participated in band camp, the Hurricane Whirlwind of Bands competition, Elkins Forest Festival, Greenbrier East Classic and competed in the State Tournament of Bands. They even attended band ratings in which they got a 3. Students were also able to have fun in some of the many classes Mr. Mann was able to teach. It took the band no time at all to warm up to him as the new band director. The transition of becoming a teacher here for Mr. Mann was not that difficult at all since he is a Pocahontas County High School alumni. From singing your heart out in choir, learning beats in music appreciation, developing rhythm in jazz band, picking strings in guitar, all the way to marching to the beat in marching band, the wide range of classes allowed the students of PCHS to broaden their horizons in the musical world.

At PCHS, the welding program had a whole new appeal that gave the students a chance to see if they could master hard labor. Throughout the year, they started out learning fundamentals of welding which teaches you all about the safety in and around the shop and equipment, how to begin to weld, set up a torch and so on. Throughout the various classes you could take in welding, you would learn how to weld: vertical, horizontal, over head, and of course flat. Many struggled to learn the fine techniques of putting down a nice bead, but the majority of the students made it on to the next level. Some of the advanced students got to move on from plate to pipe. At the end of 2014 school year, a few competed in Skills USA for welding a sculpture, "Spike" the dragon. The welding sculpture came home first place with the championship that was built in our very own welding shop by some very dedicated students. Mr. Lambert had his first state student win and was headed to nationals in June.

Drivers Education focused on the laws of driving a vehicle on the road and helped students achieve their goal of getting their own license. During forestry, students had the opportunity to walk in the woods and learn about trees and how to identify them. Mr. Garber taught the students how to identify trees by the bark and their leaves. Students also spent some time in the classroom learning about the woods from our workbooks and by playing vocal games. Mr. Garber taught students how to protect themselves from a forest fire; and what type of tools you use to cut down trees. The forestry class also learned how to use a compass and to pace off steps away from the tree to see how many logs are in a tree. We also made Biltmore sticks to measure the trees when we were far enough away from them. In wildlife management, students learned how to make habitats such as rabbit and bird houses. The students also learned about the edible plants and non-edible plants. The class went to the stream and looked for aquatic life. They found water pennies, leeches, and crawdads.

he carpentry class started out their year by learning the fundamentals of Building Construction. The students were eager to get into the shop for hands on learning activities. The first big project that they completed was a garage built for Jim Garber. Carpentry III and IV went off campus to his home and worked on the garage; this took most of the first semester. Throughout the year, the carpentry class completed numerous projects such as book shelves for the welding room, a small building and their own take home projects such as picture frames. As the year continued, multiple members of the carpentry class participated and placed while competing at Skills USA representing PCHS in Charleston, West Virginia. Building Construction gave you the skills to not only further your education, but also to start into the work force after receiving your certification and graduating from high school.

Golf

The golf team had a blast, the past 2013 Golf season. For some golf members this 2013 season was their first year, but for others it was just another year added. The team had a blast trying their best to win all the competitions. Some were nervous when they took their first shot at the ball. Some duffed the ball right away on their first shot, but kept a positive attitude clear through the season. Most of the members say that they had a blast playing golf with the rest of the team. The golf team went to regionals and the Potomac Valley Conference Tournament and placed first both times. They also went to states, some say that they struggled, but they cannot replace the experience they had. Most of the team said that they cannot wait to go back to states next year. The majority of the team say that they cannot wait until next season.

Cheerleading

At the beginning of the season the cheerleaders started their practice in the late summer. The gym was hot and there wasn't any air condition. They still practiced and did out with what they thought was intense work outs. Even though the football boys didn't have a strong season, the cheer warriors were still there with smiles on their faces, cheering them on. On senior night it was tough for the girls to face that it was their last home game together. With tears of joy and sadness they went on the next night. PVC's arrived and they were all nervous. Even though they dropped their stunt performance they still were happy about their routine. Next was competition day and they were all so excited to perform. Even though they placed fifth, they still walked away with smiles on their faces. They all ended the basketball and football cheer season with memories that will be cherished forever.

AGRICULTURE

All of the agriculture classes stayed busy with hands on activities. Many of the students are in 4H and get to prepare their meats for the ham, bacon, and egg show. A few of their field trips were to the National Convention in Louisville, Kentucky and the State Convention in Ripley and the Career Development Competitions in Morgantown. The officers pulled off an amazing banquet where there was great food, community support and students receiving awards for their hard work and dedication to FFA.

It was a new year with a new teacher, Mr. Hoover. The electricity class learned about wiring switches, as well as wiring door bells, and push button circuits. They learned about installing breaker boxes and running conduit. The underclassmen participated in core curriculum and the National Electric Code until the semester ended. They had to continue with two more years of electricity in hopes of getting their apprenticeship card. Everyone who participated in electricity this year also received their OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Administration) 10 card. To wrap up the year, the seniors finished their electricity course by taking their apprenticeship test and getting their apprenticeship card. The lower classmen had the same hope to complete their apprenticeship test and receive their cards next year. The skills they gained in electricity prepared them for the "real world of work".

Culinary

Culinary was all about learning the basics of cooking. As culinary class grew more popular, the students of PCHS always took advantage of them. Not only did the students who took the class enjoy cooking, but they also learned the best way to prepare a dish. Students who took culinary learned everything from food prep to competing in competitions. They put together a walk through Halloween haunted house, colored eggs for Easter, went to Skills USA Competition, Roadkill Cookoff, participated in the HEAT Competition, and helped cook for the FFA Banquet. It is a highly recommended class that you will use the rest of your life. Students who took the class said it was one of their favorites classes they have taken in high school.

Every year at PCHS the end comes with much success and goals met. Every day meals were prepared and cooked for the students and staff all thanks to our hard working cooks. Students were taught and prepared for the future oncoming challenges through their classes. Students always were helped and never left a class without being taught something new. Teachers and staff always lended a hand of help if you needed it, no matter how hard the question or job was. Students got extra help if they wanted or needed it. At lunch, teachers and students sat together to chat about events going on in their lives. PCHS is a place where we all are like a big family because no matter how your day is going, you have teachers or students at your school to make sure your day gets better. The Warrior Territory is a safe and most loving place to attend and you always are treated fair and equally.

PCHS MEN'S SOCCER

New head coach Cully McCurdy took over the reins of the PCHS Men's Soccer team. From the first day of the season the team practiced hard and played harder under the hot August sun. The Warriors started the season strong as they won and tied their first four games. Only losing three games during the regular season the warriors were on a warpath eyeing the sectional finals. Defeating their opponent 3-1, the men captured the second straight sectional championship. The team advanced to the regional championship on Halloween. The twenty-one members of the team came up a little short, but still had a historic season. The men captured thirteen wins, one tie and only suffered four losses the entire season. Since only four seniors graduated, the future of PCHS Men's Soccer looks bright for years to come.

Volleyball Season started off with a new coach this year, Drema Sharp. It was a challenge for everyone to get adjusted to the new coach and players, but it wasn't long until they were like a family. Coach Sharp brought determination and enthusiasm to the team. She began every practice with warm up laps and cardio drills, then moved on to two sets of 17's and drills to work on ball control. Last of all at practice was scrimmaging, varsity against the junior varsity. She worked hard with older members of the team to teach the new comers everything they needed to know about volleyball like bump, set, spike and many other techniques. It was a process for the new girls to learn everything in such a short time but they pulled it off. The ladies came together as a team and played their hearts out. Though it wasn't much of a winning season, the Lady Warriors made many great memories that will last a life time.

-Mia Hamm

The summer workouts were over and it was finally time for the Lady Warriors to take the field again! Once the hot August practices began, the Lady Warriors had one goal...to win. The team started the season being ranked 8th in the state for A-AA, leaving them with a huge image to uphold. The Lady Warriors welcomed David Jonese as Head Coach for the 2013 season and were prepared to work hard. Despite having one of the youngest line ups in the state, it did not hinder them at all. The Lady Warriors had an overall winning season and landed themselves a spot in the Sectional Championship game. Even though a State Championship title was not brought home, it was a season for the books. Unfortunately, the Lady Warriors lost four impact seniors, which will result in a huge gap for underclassmen to step up and fill next fall. PCHS looks forward to the growing program and what the Lady Warriors will conquer in the upcoming season.

Boys Basketball

- Drake Warder

Overall this season, I had fun and many great learning experiences. I also look forward to having another great year next year.

-J.D. Hensler

It has been great but also rough at times. It's something I won't ever forget.

-Stephen Mick

This has been a good year, although we are unexperienced we are a good ball team. I have had a lot of good times this year and I can't wait for next year.

As we reflected on the 2013-2014 basketball season, it was a success. Tim McClung came back as the head coach once again and Costy McNabb as the assistant coach. The warriors were still a young team but they strived for their best. There was no senior leadership so the juniors had to step up. Many of the boys this season were young and had to learn new things and push themselves the hardest to make the varsity team. Late night practices had began again. Many seventeen's were ran just to stay in shape throughout the season. Just as last year, the warriors had ended their season falling short at sectionals. It was another great year of learning and pushing ourselves to become better. The warriors were looking forward to the upcoming season and will continue to work hard by going to summer camps and working on their game on their own in hopes to travel to the state championship next year.
